

Spiritual Healing

Chablé Resort & Spa, Yucatán, Mexico

Opposite: Chablé is a modern hacienda hotel less than an hour from the city of Mérida on the Yucatán Peninsula. Above: This Mexican retreat celebrates the country's culture in a way I have not seen in any other property so far

Above: Chablé is set within lushly landscaped gardens Opposite Above: The true highlight is the property's wellness concept and sleek indoor-outdoor spa Opposite Below: The property comprises 38 modern casitas and two villas

Highly anticipated, Chablé Resort & Spa has opened to much fanfare and a series of top reviews, so I thought it best for the fuss to die down before checking it out.

A modern hacienda hotel less than an hour from the city of Mérida, the property comprises 38 modern casitas and two villas (one of which we stayed in) that, set within lushly landscaped gardens, have been smartly arranged with a pleasing functionality that, surprisingly, many hotels neglect.

A notable standout is the lavish Royal Villa, a 10,000 sq foot bolt-hole that was one of the best I have ever seen with— just to name a few of the luxury offerings - three spacious bedrooms; media room; private spa and fitness space; hot tub; and an incredible wrap-around outdoor pool.

Of course, the true highlight is the property's wellness concept and sleek indoor-outdoor spa. Here, we opted for the Sun and Moon Temazcal treatment for couples – a moving and spiritual experience based on a ceremonial ritual that encourages communication with a private couple's exercise that focuses on the spoken word within a space heated by volcanic stones and infused with aloe vera and medicinal flower extracts.

Under the guidance of General Manager, Rocco Bova, this Mexican retreat truly understands high-touch service and celebrates the country's culture in a way I have not seen in any other property so far. chableresort.com

