community of Costa Palmas, on the eastern shore of Baja (the “secret cape”). The standouts: airy minimalist design, marina, organic farm, and Robert Trent Jones II golf course (the most challenging in Los Cabos). And two miles of swimmable beach—a rarity here. WOW FACTOR The vast sports complex, a magnet for kids of all ages. The whole place is perfect for families and sports lovers. J.S.E.

CHABLE RESORT, Mexico This is the first five-star hacienda in the Yucatan’s interior and one of the top places to stay in Mexico. We love: the cutting-edge mix of historic and modern design; the casitas, surrounded by gardens; the world class wellness program (with a spa built around a cenote); the exceptional food (chef Jorge Vallejo’s Mexico City restaurant just made the top 50 in the world). WOW FACTOR The Chablé signature spa treatments. Z.R.

BELMOND ANDEAN EXPLORER, Peru The attention to detail in this new sleeper train running between Arequipa and Cusco is so astonishing it’s like a luxury hotel on wheels. A staff of 30 serves the 24 cabins, there’s an onboard spa, and chef Diego Muñoz (of Astrid y Gastón fame) created the menus. WOW FACTOR Downing pisco sours in the observation car while watching a herd of wild vicuñas on the altiplano. P.I. & T.R.

ATIX HOTEL, La Paz Bolivia The high-altitude capital is hot on the heels of Lima and Santiago as Latin America’s foodie hub. This is its first high-end hotel for leisure travelers, with a lively vibe, colorful EMILIANO, Rio de Janeiro With this latest addition to Rio’s luxury hotel scene, the girl from Ipanema is now hanging out at this cool, contemporary place in rising Copacabana. We love the white Swiss cheese façade, the L-shaped pool, and the views—which are arguably the best in town—of the entire bay and Sugarloaf. WOW FACTOR The rooftop Spa Suites, which have their own saunas and bathtubs looking down on the beach below. P.I. & T.R.

local artworks, and the ONA restaurant, which focuses on homegrown culinary talent. WOW FACTOR The views of the cityscape and mountains from the glass-walled rooftop pool and bar. P.I. & T.R.

nicely with the desert setting—and the spare, sustainable landscaping. WOW FACTOR Dinner at Comal, which has gotten raves for its unique, modern take on Latin American flavors. J.B.

CHILENO BAY RESORT, Los Cabos Auberge Resorts does it again with this sexy spot on one of Cabo’s best swimmable beaches (the waters are also known for great snorkeling). The architecture is cool and contemporary; the neutral decor harmonizes

PALACIO TANGARA, São Paulo Brazil’s economic and cultural capital now has a palace-style hotel (part of the Oetker Collection), with much marble and many crystal chandeliers, set within lush Buple Marx Park, with an extensive spa and a restaurant by Jean-Georges
